A quality industrial compressor lubricant, blended from carefully selected base oils with a low tendency to form carbon. Fortified with additives to inhibit wear, corrosion, oxidation and foaming.

HT 32 and 46 are recommended for the lubrication of screw type compressors. HT 68 recommended for the lubrication of reciprocating (piston) type compressors. HT 68 can be used in sliding vane applications where oils of these viscosities are required.

One crucial aspect of compressor maintenance is the use of high-quality compressor oil.

Understand the importance of compressor oil, its functions, selection criteria, and best practices for maintaining machinery efficiency.

Donaldson Alpha-Web™: Fine Fibres for Rough Work

In the real world, hydraulic systems face demanding operating environments, dealing with constantly fluctuating surge-and-flow conditions. To accurately replicate these actual scenarios, the ISO 23369 standard was introduced.

This development marks a crucial milestone in hydraulic filtration test standards and has triggered substantial advancements in filter technology.

LATEST REVIEWS

July 2023

"After searching for weeks, for two hydraulic filters, came across RICO Europe by accident, listed online the filters i have been looking for, ordered them on Monday had them here Highlands Of Scotland on Wednesday , excellent service, price, delivery, cannot fault this company in any way, will not hesitate to look them up again, very good company."

Derek Williamson

"Excellent customer service, expert knowledge, best price, keep your customer service, well happy customer."

Joinex Joinery Express

I recommend this very serious and confident seller to future buyers. Fast shipping and very careful packaging.

French Customer

Only this is with service like this, I wish y'all were in the U.S. Maybe y'all could teach these airheads something. Fantastic. Right parts the first time.

American Customer

Excellent service less than 24 hours between ordering and delivery!! Thank you!!

UK Customer

Under Pressure: Cyclic Flow Filtration

The new ISO 23369 standard for hydraulic fluid filtration has now been approved and implemented – and offers a better model for testing filters to reflect real-world performance.

New Alpha Test Standards for Assessing Hydraulic Filters

A dump truck that can't dump isn't worth much.

That is why, with current supply chain challenges and lead times on replacement parts, it is more important than ever to protect sensitive hydraulic components: pumps, valves, and actuators. These challenges also emphasise the importance of effective hydraulic filtration and, by extension, hydraulic filtration testing.
